SALT OF THE EARTH

On a mission to rid South Fork pantries of refined salts, Peter Pierce, founder of Hampton Salt Company, created 100 percent all-natural varieties. Through infusing the flavor profiles, he has been able to create an unlimited number of options in a breathtaking array of colors and flavors. "Depending on the ocean from which it is made and the process, salt has different minerals, tastes, sizes, and textures," says Pierce.

For Scott Bollman, founder and salt forager at North Fork Sea Salt Co., understanding our ocean is second nature—he was born and raised on the North Fork. As a chef in New York City, he realized that his restaurant was sourcing amazing products, but none of the chefs had a real connection to the farmers, fishermen, vintners, or artisans. He returned to his roots to reconnect. "Coming back to the North Fork was an exciting time for me," says Bollman. "What was once just a place where I grew up has now become my inspiration and a place where I can leave a footprint in the historic food culture/movement here on the East End."
